1.1.1 MARRIOTT INTERNATIONAL

JW Marriott is an upscale brand which belongs to Marriott International, named after Mr John Willard Marriott, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Marriott International.
 JW Marriott is registered and legally defined as an upscale brand of hotels under the group, and headquartered in Bethesda Maryland, United States.

The earliest history of Marriott started when Mr J.Willard Marriott and his wife opened a rest home hotel in Washington DC back in year 1927. The successful story continued by expanding their enterprises into a chain of restaurants and introducing "no-till" catering which later becomes a phenomenon in other industries. They later opened the Marriott first hotel which is The New Bridge Marriott in Arlington, Virginia. That one was named as the owner Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, J.W. (Bill) Marriott, Jr. and his led the company to spectacular worldwide growth. Today, Marriott International has about 1,150 lodging properties located in the United States and 17 other countries and territories.

Marriott International is a group of brands which is well-known for its unique products and services offered all over the world. Their product series from Full Service, Select Service, Extended Stay, and others. Marriott International is globally known for its brand, which is guaranteed luxury and tremendous experience both during a stay. There are numbers of brands under the Marriott Grouping such with one brand of gift and related to welfare assistance situation. Below are the brands that Marriott International offers:

CONCLUSION

Our two weeks industrial attachment with Laxmi engineering industries has been one of the most interesting, productive and instructive experience in my life. Through this training, we have gained new insight and more comprehensive understanding about the real industrial working condition and practice, it also improved my soft and functional skills. All these valuable experiences and knowledge's that we have gained were not only acquired through the direct involvement in task but also through other aspects of training such as: work observation, interaction with colleagues, supervisors and other people related to the field. We are sure that industrial training program has achieved its primary objectives. As result of this training we are more confident to build our future

support its conduct and study its workings. All those parties need to be involved in a continuing reconsideration of graduate education and its national purposes.

Three kinds of issues are suggested as worthy of a searching national discussion:

- National goals and policy options.
- System characterization.
- Contemporary issues.

National Goals and Policy Options. How can we judge the overall adequacy of the national system of graduate education in science and engineering? Our 1993 Goals report suggested three goals to keep in mind in assessing the nation's performance in research. Goal 1 is for the United States to be among the world leaders in all major fields of research. Goal 2 is for the United States to maintain clear leadership in selected fields. Goal 3 is for the United States to cede technological leadership in no technology because of technical backwardness alone.

Whether that framework suggests a corresponding set of goals for graduate education or whether some other goals are appropriate should be considered. With better agreement on goals, participants could productively refine the roles and responsibilities of each sector—university, state and federal government, professions, corporations —in meeting them.

Policies and goals for graduate education, to be truly national, must be the shared objectives of all—the research and teaching institutions, state leaders, the federal agencies responsible for support of research and education, and Congress. Developing a shared national view of such goals (and not just a federal view) could lead to a series of policies and actions taken by all the partners in the system.

The science and engineering graduate-education enterprise, which serves multiple national objectives, should be measured against several yardsticks. It should ensure a steady supply of precollege and college teachers, of university faculty, and of researchers in academic, government, and industrial laboratories. It should meet the expanding need for advanced scientists and engineers in careers outside research. And it should offer a diverse vision of education and employment that inspires future generations of American students to strive for careers in science and technology.

System Characterization. What are the key trends in graduate education with respect to employment patterns, career paths, financial support from public and private sources, program evolution, and so on? What are the determinants of those trends?

The national discussion could examine whether underemployment is widespread, how nontraditional employers view new PhDs, the growth of postdoctoral positions, and how people choose careers. It could also monitor progress on innovations, such as the measures recommended in this report, and it might thus serve as a clearinghouse for information on university programs intended to foster versatility, including those stemming from demonstrations.

CONCLUSION

It was a complete useful experience working at the Vivanta By Taj. The friendly Welcoming staff and the space they have created for a trainee/intern allowed me with full opportunities to learn and know myself as a worker. This experience brought out my strength and also the areas I needed to make up. It added more confidence to my Professional approach built a stronger positive attitude and taught me how to work in Team as a player. The primary objective of an internship is to gather a real life working experience and put their theoretical knowledge in practice. This was my first real experience to work in a 5 star deluxe property. I was quiet nervous about it. During my 6 months of training I have developed a lot of confidence and courage in this industry.

My experience at the hotel was highly educative one. I went to different departments of the hotel and got a lot of varied experience. I worked in the three departments of the hotel: - Housekeeping department, Food and Beverage Service department and Front Office department. In all these departments I get to learn many things which will be helpful for me in my future.

I also learned the values and importance of this industry and experienced that this is much superior field than most of the other field during my training. As a human being, I noticed many changes in my attitude. I am more confident and more likely to do any work now.

During my training, I thoroughly enjoyed the challenges that came along every single day, I learned that this is just the beginning of the road and I have to travel a long distance to be a successful person in this field. But I must say that this experience will prove an objective in my career in the hotel industry.

3 hrs July 9 -Thursday-
 On Thursday I join Faysal Bank McLeod Road Branch Lahore. I talk to the manager of the bank Mr. Fakhri about my manger and submit my internship letter issued by HR manager of Faysal bank. After inquire he allow me to start my internship to his branch. He told me about some of the operation of the After that he told me about two type of mangers. First one is operation Manager responsible for operation of the bank and second one is Branch manger responsible for the marketing of bank.

8 hrs July 10 -Friday-
 It was the day when I start taking part in the operation of the bank. That I was placed with a senior employee Mr. Umar who have more knowledge I from the operation manger. He was a young man. He told me about clearing and collection of cheques and how they are received and stamped.

8 hrs July 11 -Saturday-
 That day I learn how to handle a customer which have all the knowledge about the banking system. That I also learn about different language use how to satisfy the customer.
 When I ask one of the senior employee about English whether it is important or not. He answered me English is very much important but it depend the location. The area where you are performing your job. I also learn how to make links with other's because these are very much important.
 The customer's have to wait hours because where I am performing my internship have no alternative of shortage of electricity.

9 hrs July 13 -Monday-
 That day when I start my internship the light was off and customer have to wait for one hour. After that my senior told me about the software which the bank is using right now.
 a) Cnical
 b) Lohak
 When I ask one another senior employee Mr. Ali which he like he answer me that he like the old version (cnical) because he is expert of it.
 After that he told me about NTN National Tax Number. Now NTN is must for opening an account for every businessman. There is a secret statements called Assessment and Veriys Statements which customer have no knowledge.
 When any businessman want to open an account. The must required documents are:

Sometimes, an audit really helps; You may discover additional deductions that you forgot to report, and your statement may be more favorable. You can get a professional backup if you are being audited in person, or have questions or concerns about the IRS approach, consult a tax professional. Appeals officers may be more favourable and less rigid, as they review your case. Advanced audits with comprehensive tax returns, tax collectors make their own taxes to save money, without realizing that mistakes can be terribly expensive. You can accept the adjustment and move forward from there. Depending on which lines you need to confirm, you may need specific forms. Articles like your W-2, 1099 income forms and investment reports will help you make your case. Rember, the IRS isn't always right. There is no reason to file the above tax returns and open additional questions. An audit almost always ends in the IRS's favor, with 75 percent of taxpayers audited due to more than their original submission. Using an accountant or using a computerized tax return program can help you provide a complete tax return without any red flags. If your relationship with the auditors allows, approach them as you are writing each response and get their feedback. Make sure the appointees have the authority to make the changes happen. Audits are the worst nightmare of most people. That includes situations outside the actual audit request. As a result, it's important to stay focused. This can help you avoid being audited in the first place, which is always the best result. The tips for personal audits also apply to you. Multiple can be held accountable if the change involves more than one department, such as operations, technology, and human resources. He doesn't want to face the IRS alone and he's intimidated. It's a giant hassle and you have to produce a ton of documentation to prove your various income entries and deductions. Find a CPA or accountant who has experience in audits. When you have a professional on your side, you will be much more sure. If you agree to control the improvements in your response to the audit and you can not fulfill them due to budget duties, the auditors will not accept this as an excuse. The government has chosen your file for an audit. It is important to write a solid response to an audit report, since the auditors and the executive direction responsibly responsible for the direction of the operations of the control improvements to which they are committed. And now what? You will need training in internal audit for your staff, and you may want an internal audit checklist so that people know what to expect. If the IRS knocks on the door, wait a lot of time to produce the documentation you need. Between that and its documentation, you can get the best possible result of your audit. Imaging an entrepreneurial audit is similar to a personal audit, but may have some different complexities. Establish realistic dates to implement your control improvements and be generous without being excessive. This is what you should do if you are in that situation. Hey your audit notice with careful audit requests are a complete process in person. Commit to remedy the control deficiencies detected by auditors and do not leave margin for the interpretation of their intentions. Determine all costs, including equipment and systems updates, the rewrite of the procedure manual and the additional personnel counting that will be needed to resolve control deficiencies. CC0 / STEVEPB / PIXABAY You have received the dreaded IRS notice. Most audit departments and business executive managers expect you to deliver improvements to the calendar you have established. Many people have been audited and have done very well. Sometimes it makes assumptions that are incorrect, or misinterprets the specific documentation. You You You want professional help, such as audit consulting firms.Having regular internal audits can help prevent an IRS audit. Control weaknesses, particularly those related to information technology systems, can take longer to resolve than originally planned. ThereeAAAs no reason to overreact. The auditors will review your reply to the audit report and determine whether it will resolve the control weaknesses they have identified. Your professional behavior will pay dividends when you interact with the auditors in the future. Modifications to the time frame might be permitted, but will be frowned upon unless a drastic change has occurred in your business to necessitate the change. Simply provide the documentation you have to support your filing.If you did make a mistake, the IRS will propose an adjustment. adjustment.
